Coleman's Share of Savings Bonanza Exceeds Half-Million

Roughly 600 Compulsory Saving Cheques Will Arrive Here In March.

According to local Post office officials, basing the estimate on the number of cheques issued last year, roughly 600 compulsory savings cheques will be issued to Colemanites involved in the wartime savings extracted from them by the Dominion Government. In view of the fact that the Coleman average is higher than the national average of $76 for each recipient, a sum exceeding $500,000 dollars will be handed out to the fortunate 600.

The cheques will be issued in alphabetical order so the "Zedders" will have to cool their heels for a few days longer than the "ABC" members of this mammoth savings share pool.

Art Exhibit Well Attended

Paintings by Lethbridge Artists Excite Interest of Coleman Art Lovers: Several Local Scenes.

The Art Exhibit staged in the High School Auditorium on Friday drew a good response from Coleman art lovers despite the short notice given them of its presentation. Sponsored by the Alberta Teachers' Association of Coleman, the exhibition contained the paintings of the Lethbridge branch of the Federation of Canadian Artists. A great deal of interest was centered on those productions with local background, "Mine" — Crows Nest Pass, by E. S. Falters, A.A.S.A., of the Y.M.C.A., Lethbridge excited a general discussion as to what mine Mr. Falters was depicting. The argument was still continuing when we left, but it was fairly obvious the artists was trying to convey the general idea of a Pass mine rather than any one particular surface operation.

One of the outstanding oils on display was the work of a Macleod artist, Annora Brown. Titled "After Glow", it caught the twilight mood with stunning effect and drew complimentary remarks from all sides. In his painting, "Canmore" Mr. Falters appeared to have achieved a greater sense of clarity than in his Crows Nest Pass work, but it must be remembered that here he was depicting a native scene, whereas in the Crows picture he sought to convey a general impression.

The rolling effect secured by M. Pisko, A.A.S.A., of Lethbridge, in his work entitled, "Strips" was an outstanding feature of the exhibit and Coleman patrons, well acquainted with strip-farming methods in the area they traverse on their trips to Lethbridge and Calgary, were unanimous in their convictions that Mr. Pisko had caught the rolling panorama with authentic effect.

While these works based on territory familiar to local art lovers excited the masses, the remaining productions were certainly not neglected. Every picture on display was given a thorough inspection by the scores of enthusiastic patrons who toured the Auditorium during the afternoon.

In conjunction with the Exhibition, luncheon service was operated by the Students Union, under the supervision of the following committee: Mrs. David Hoyle, Mrs. Horace Allen, Mrs. A. McLean, Mrs. J. Cousins, Mrs. J. McDonald and Miss A. Mercer.

While it is unfortunate that the Exhibition was presented on such short notice, Mr. Steve Ondrus and his co-workers are to be heartily congratulated on the initiative shown in presenting a venture of this kind. It is hoped this successful presentation will be the forerunner of a permanent series of periodic exhibits.

Ratepayers Dislike Health Dept's Voting System

Ratepayers of L.I.D. No. 10 in C.N.P. Municipal Hospital District Ask Department to Permit "Proper" Voting Procedure.

Monday, February 28, was the scheduled voting day of the ratepayers residing in Local Improvement District No. 10 to fill the two vacancies on the Crows Nest Pass Municipal Hospital board. There were three nominations received.

The vote was to be held in accordance with the Hospitals' Act and the procedure was to appoint a chairman at a public meeting, permit ratepayers to ask questions pertaining to hospital administration, hear the three candidates speak, each in his own behalf, and then vote by ballot on the two candidates whom they considered best fitted for the job.

The meeting started at 2:30 p.m. Monday with A. Balloch acting as Returning Officer and John Dudley appointed as chairman. It was quite evident from the start that the sixty or so persons present, with a few exceptions, were strongly opposed to the voting procedure as outlined in the Act. Encouragement was given them by the Chairman who also voiced opposition to the scheme. The meeting progressed up to the point when the three candidates had spoken when again opposition to the voting procedure flared up. Despite the fact that the Act was explained to them on two occasions the ratepayers present voted overwhelmingly in favor of cancelling the meeting and demanding that the Department of Health agree to authorize a "proper" vote when polls could be set up throughout the district, deputy Returning Officers, poll clerks, etc. be lined up and that the vote take place on Monday, March 7.

A detailed report of the meeting has been sent Mr. E. E. Maxwell, supervisor of municipal hospitals, who authorized the meeting to which the L.I.D. ratepayers objected to and it will be he who will determine just what the next move will be.

Percy Dickieson Doubts Road Route Settled

Board of Trade President Stresses Lack of Definite Plans to Push Road Via Calgary.

The current wave of contradictory press reports concerning the ultimate route of the Trans-Canada Highway has made no dent in the avowed efforts of the Southern Highway Association's clean-cut determination to continue the fight to have the highway routed via the Crow's Nest Pass was the opinion expressed by Percy Dickieson, President of the Coleman Board of Trade, in the course of a discussion concerning his recent trip to Edmonton as one of the two Southern delegates to the conference called by Premier Manning to iron out the contentious issues involved in the selection of the route to be followed by the Trans-Canada highway.

"The conference failed to settle the issue, and the claim of the proponents of the Central route to ultimate preference was based on Mr. Manning's statement that Alberta favored the Big Bend," said Mr. Dickieson.

He pointed out that Alberta was not definitely committed to the central route and the final selection of a route was still subject to numerous other influences, notably the costs involved in completing the route chosen.

Grands Defeat Mad Hatters 4-3 But Lose Series 9-8

Locals Battle Desperately to Pull Series Out of the Fire But Lose Round 9-8.

Coleman Grands travelled to Medicine Hat on Saturday to make a desperate effort to wipe out the two-goal advantage the Hatters had built up the previous week in the first of the home and home series, staged in the Coleman arena. The Grands made the trip without Joyce, Pavlus and Gettman, and this was probably the deciding factor in a ding-dong struggle that raged from start to finish.

The Coleman cause looked hopeless a few minutes after the start when the Hatters increased their series lead to three goals as they netted the games opening marker. The Grands fought back and matched that one just before the period ended. They continued to dominate play through the second to cut the Hatter's series margin to one goal.

The final period was a thriller as Coleman threw everything in the book at the home club in a furious attempt to pull the series out of the fire but the Monarchs hung on desperately to win the series, 9-8. Coleman were the victims of a bad refereeing break when they scored following a beautiful passing play.

The official in question, however, instead of waiting for the completion of the play, turned his back on it to investigate possible injuries to a Medicine Hat player, who had been knocked down at the start of the Coleman attack. Thus, the Grands finished the season in a negative burst of glory-winning their last game of the season, 4-3, but losing the series 9-8. It was the second straight year in which their hopes of regaining the Western Canada title had ended in the confines of the Medicine Hat arena.

People about where they are invited—that's why it pays to advertise.

Edgar Allen Hurt In Mine Mishap

Edgar Allen, pit boss at the McGillivray mine, was the victim of a painful accident in the course of his duties at the mine last weekend. Mr. Allen was coming up the slope after completing an inspection when he lost his footing and fell heavily on his arm.

Examination revealed that he had suffered a fractured wrist and he was forced to lay-off for a few days. Although, obviously, the fracture has not yet mended, we understand that Mr. Allen returned to his duties this week.

SPRING FLOWERS BLOOM FOR JIM COUSINS

Warm breezes and bright sunshine accentuate our eager desire to welcome Spring and a visit to the home of Jim Cousins would appear to provide the final proof that the year's most welcomed season has definitely arrived. Visitors to the Cousins home are greeted with the sight of beautiful spring blossoms, tulips and daffodils blooming in a brilliant array of arrestingly beautiful, bright colours.

Mr. Cousins, an ardent lover of flowers, cultivated the flowers in his home, right through the long sub-zero weather recently experienced and is now rewarded with the blossoming of his diligent culture.

Coleman Ice Review Provides Thrilling Entertainment; Coleman Born Girl Steals Show

Youthful Glencoe Club Artists Kept Spectators Cheering Throughout Two-Hour Show.

Coleman's Community Sports Association and the Coleman Lions Club unveiled Coleman's Ice Review of 1949 at the Coleman Arena on Saturday night at 8 p.m., and two hours later at the completion of the show they were the recipients of a barrage of well merited congratulatory remarks from those who witnessed the brilliantly executed presentation.

Mayor Frank Aboussafy opened the show with an address of welcome to the Glencoe Club of Calgary, and the assisting artists from Kimberley, Cranbrook and Winnipeg. In the course of his remarks Mayor Aboussafy expressed the hope that this initial effort in the field of winter entertainment would lead to a permanent annual attraction rivaling the Rodeo in size and appeal.

The actual show got under way with the performance of a dazzling group number by the Glencoe Club's "Cornish Six". This was followed by the appearance of nine-year old Margaret Sweeney. A thunderous ovation was extended to this brilliant little performer by the fans who were thoroughly captivated by the moppet's professional motions. This was only the beginning as act followed act in a sequence of brilliant numbers that kept the fans cheering for encores.

The dance team of Billy Clarke and June Brighton displayed real ingenuity in their performance of "Anchors Aweigh" and should go a long way in the skating world on the basis of an uncanny sense of showmanship alone. The young team of Sharon and Ryan Adams were not one whit behind their older clubmates in the quality of their teamwork and actually brought the house down with their comedy number. No adult comedy team performing in the "Big Time" ever surpassed these youngsters in the art of laugh-provoking antics. The act really laid them in the aisles.

That Canada will soon regain the world title vacated by Barbara Ann Scott was amply demonstrated by the quality of work turned in by Karen Dixon. This talented nine-year old, skating to the music of "Dancing Dominoes" turned in a performance that had the spectators yelling themselves hoarse for more. Her smooth execution of a second number, "Soft as a Morning Breeze" was a sample of poetry in motion.

Coleman Born Pat Brown Stops Show

When Jim Cousins announced the appearance of the Coleman born daughter of a former Coleman Canadian hockey star, Freddie Brown, the crowd yelled their encouragement when Pat Brown, now of Cranbrook and her equally brilliant little partner, Dannie Alward, of Cranbrook, started their number to the music of the old Clyde McCoy classic, "Sugar Blues". Before the youngsters were quarter way through the act the yells of encouragement had turned into a roar of spontaneous delight as Coleman's native daughter and her teammate literally stopped the show with their amazing acrobatics. Proud "Pappa Freddie" was in the audience and later told the Journal the youngsters had improvised the number themselves. The crowd expressed their enjoyment of the performance by demanding an encore, and a repeat performance during the second half of the show.

The classical aspects of the show were amply covered by the performances of the Glencoe Club's teen-age aspirants for gold medal awards, Barbara Cowan, "Cornish Rhapsody"; Kathryn Ryan, "Ballet Dance"; Joan Prince, "Tchaikovsky's Concerto", and the solo performances of Glencoe's Helen Sweeney and Winnipeg's Francis Abbott. The full program follows: "The Cornish Six", Glencoe Sextette; Solo, Margaret Sweeney; "Anchors Aweigh", June Brighton and Billy Clarke; "Lavender Blue", Sharon and Ryan Adams; "Dancing Dominoes", Karen Dixon; "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life", June Brighton; "Sugar Blues", Pat Brown and Dannie Alward, Cranbrook Club; Solo, Billy Clarke; "Ballet, Dance", Kathryn Ryan; "Valencia", Barbara Cowan and Joan Prince; "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling", Margaret Sweeney; Solo, Jimmy Head; Solo, Margaret Head; "Soft as a Morning Breeze", Karen Dixon; "Cornish Rhapsody", Barbara Cowan; "Alice Blue Gown", Margaret and Jimmy Head; "Tchaikovsky's Concerto", Joan Prince; "A Little Bird Told Me", Billy Clarke and June Brighton; "Symphony", Helen Sweeney; Comedy number, "Jingle Bells", Sharon and Ryan Adams; Classic Dance, Francis Abbott, Winnipeg.

The grand finale was a rousing Carousell featuring the entire cast, to the strains of "Anchors Aweigh" and the crowd rose to its feet to give the thrilling young band of gradates, little troupers a great ovation. It would not be fair to single any one individual connected with the sponsorship for special mention but it goes without saying that the broadcasting of Jim Cousins and the technical operations of record changing Lorenzo Richards and the spot-lighting work of Aldo Montalbetti added a great deal of lustre to the finished product. The show was managed by Gwendoline Sweeney, Louise Dixon directed the music. Both these numbers of the Glencoe Club expressed complete satisfaction with the manner in which they had been received in Coleman and left no doubts in the minds of Coleman C.S.A. and Lion officials that they were carrying a favorable report back to the executive of Calgary's Glencoe Club.

Before the show and during the intermission period, the Coleman Pipe Band under Pipe-Major James Moore kept the crowd in carnival mood with a number of rousing selections.

Following the show, the entire ensemble enjoyed a buffet supper at the Grand Union Hotel prior to their return to Calgary on the special Greyhound bus that brought them down.

A Continued Crisis

WORLD FOOD SUPPLIES HAVE BEEN a constant source of interest and concern since production and distribution were so seriously disrupted by the war. For nearly ten years there have been critical shortages in many countries, for the end of the war did not bring a rapid solution to this gigantic problem. Recently the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations issued a report on the present situation from the headquarters at Lake Success, New York. While this report might be said to be more encouraging than any which have yet been issued by the F.A.O., it contained a number of grim facts, and predictions for the future were not optimistic.

Great Increase In Population

The report showed that there are now 200,000,000 more people to be fed than there were before the war, while the volume of food production has not increased. A plea was made, in this connection, for improvement in supplies of agricultural equipment, and in international trading and food distribution. While the Food and Agriculture Organization is assisting governments with technical advice on soil and food conservation and other matters relating to crop production, it was stressed that agricultural production was primarily a matter of national concern and that governments were urged to take measures which would increase world food supplies.

Situation Now Less Critical

The situation is at present less critical than it has been in past years, because the Far East has had the best rice crop this year, since the war, and the food shortage has eased somewhat in the western world. Warning was given, however, that these facts should not lead to a false sense of security. Reserves of world food supplies have been cut to a minimum, and the food situation in the coming year will depend on the 1949 harvest. It was also pointed out that the increased dependence for world food supplies on the United States and Canada has heightened the danger of food shortages because of the uncertainties of the harvests on this continent. As one of the great agricultural countries, Canada is concerned in this matter of world food supplies, and it is apparent that we must face continued responsibilities in this regard as long as production continues to be so far behind the needs of the increasing world population.

B.C. Man Trying To Preserve 1,000 Years Of History

PORT ALBERNI.—George Tranfield of Bainbridge doesn't want 1,000 years of history broken up in a saw-mill.

He will try to get the B.C. forests minister to preserve as a park a stand of giant firs in the headwaters of the south fork of Englishman River.

Mr. Tranfield says the trees survived the great fire believed to have swept Vancouver Island 500 years ago.

He thinks they are 1,000 years old. They existed long before big trees logged today started to sprout.

Mr. Tranfield says there are possibly 100 of the trees, more than 300 feet high and from 36 to 45 feet in circumference.

There is no clear-marked route into the area, but Mr. Tranfield knows a way and is willing to take interested persons.

The area has two lakes, well-stocked with fish, known as Neely and Shelton. They appear on old maps as Panther and Echo Lakes.

FUNNY And OTHERWISE

The absent-minded professor walked into the village barber's shop, sat down in the operating chair, and asked for a haircut.

"Certainly, sir," said the barber. "Would you mind taking off your hat?"

The professor hurriedly complied.

"I'm sorry," he apologized, "but I didn't know that ladies were present."

"They tell me she makes people happy wherever she goes," "You mean 'whenever'?"

The teacher had been explaining the poem "Excelsior." "Now," he said, "what is meant by the line, 'The shades of night were falling fast'?"

"It means," said Tommy, "the shop windows were being shut up at closing time!"

"Does this lodge have any death benefits?"

"Sure. When you die you don't have to pay any more dues."

Mrs. Suburb, having lost the key of the kitchen clock, went with her husband to get another. Mr. Suburb waited while his wife went into the jeweller's. Presently she came out.

"Got it?" he asked.

"No," said the wife. "Why not?"

"Well," Mrs. Swaggar was in there buying pearls, so I just inquired how long it would take to clear a diamond tiara."

If all the speakers who go out giving advice on how to raise children were married and raising families, there would be no speakers to go out giving advice on how to raise children.

"Do you act toward your wife as you did before you married her?"

"Exactly. I used to stand in front and look at her house, almost afraid to go in. I still do the same thing."

"No, thank you. I'll stay at home," said a man who had been invited to join a party visiting the Zoological Gardens. "My eldest daughter does the kangaroo walk; my second daughter talks like a parrot; my son laughs like a hyena; my wife watches me like a hawk; my cook's as cross as a bear, and my mother-in-law says I'm an old girl. When I go anywhere I want a change."

"So you're a young man with both feet on the ground, eh? What do you do for a living?"

"I take orders from a man with both feet on a duck."

A New York Scrooge who berated a brow-beaten employee for being an hour late for work one morning demanded an explanation.

"I'm sorry, sir," said the trembling employee, holding up a bandaged arm, "but I fell out of a second story window."

"Did it take you an hour to do it?" asked his employer.

A clock passes the time by keeping its hands busy, says the London Free Press. Not a bad idea for people, too.

Prizes — Model T's, New Paint And They Run

The people around Lintlaw, Sask., couldn't afford a few super-duper models but they did find four old model T's — total value: $200 including new paint jobs and in running order—as first prize for their borspiel. Here are the cars and their proud owners, of the winning rink, Fred Gregoris, Bill Atco, Andy Nordmarken, Sam Bagnall, all of Nut Mountain. The rink committee, which purchased the cars in the district and went miles to get them, made $500 on the 'spiel, enough to pay off the rink mortgage.—Photo courtesy of Regina Leader-Post.

Irrigation Project Plan For Whiska Creek This Year

SWIFT CURRENT.—Reeve James Fraser of Whiska Creek Rural Municipality No. 106 has announced that L. B. Thomson, director of P.F.R.A., had assured that area of an irrigation project for 1949.

Mr. Fraser said that when the project is completed it will provide water for 15,000 acre feet of water. Water to a depth of 27 feet in the deepest spots will be stored in the irrigation dam.

The water will come from a source west of Neville, fed by springs, he said. Fraser said that he expected about 15 farmers would take advantage of the irrigation facilities for the growth of grain, gardens and fruit crops.

Once P.F.R.A. has built the irrigation facilities the water users' association and the provincial government would have the say as to who will be getting water supplies, he said.

Mr. Fraser said that L. M. Ogilvie and P. W. Coolican, Swift Current, would be in charge of organization of water users and would make certain recommendations to the P.F.R.A. and Saskatchewan government.

Prairie Employment Sets Record

CALGARY.—Western Canada last fall established a world's record for employment, Fred White of Winnipeg, regional superintendent of the unemployment insurance commission, said.

Mr. White, in Calgary to attend a two-day meeting of the prairie regional employment committee, said less than 13 per cent. of the labor force in the three prairie provinces was unemployed last fall. He said that was the lowest rate of unemployment ever recorded in any country in the world.

Says Yukon An "Exciting Part Of World"

OTTAWA.—The Yukon, where $48 buys enough genuine fox pelts for a coat and $25 buys a cord of firewood, is a tourist's paradise, Peter H. Bennett, deputy director of the United Kingdom Information Office, said here.

Speaking to a meeting of the Mining Association of Kingsway United Church at Green Valley, Mr. Bennett said the Yukon was "the most beautiful, friendly, interesting and exciting part of the world that can be visited today."

Improved communications through the construction of the Alaska Highway have modernized the country and brought it into the news. But it is still a wild and beautiful land.

The fur trade, great mineral wealth and tourist potential of the territory make it a land of promise. But, if the mineral potentialities of the Yukon are to be fully exploited, and its tourist trade developed, additional population and better communications must come.

As a country to be settled, Mr. Bennett said, the Yukon had much to offer. The cost of living was 50 per cent. higher than in the rest of Canada, but improved communications would lower it.

59,954 Acres Into New Crop In '48

Canadian farmers — 1,203 in six provinces — harvested $492,685.50 under the Farm Improvement Loans Act in 1948 to clear and break 59,954 acres of land for new crop production.

Alberta led all other provinces, using $410,231.25 for clearing and breaking 35,875 acres. Nova Scotia was last, obtaining $180 to clear and break 24 acres.

Rapid expansion of productive farming has been made possible by the development of modern mechanized machinery to clear and break new land. Because this machinery is available on a custom basis, farmers and land settlers have been helped in the past, by cash shortages, in getting the benefit of this mechanized equipment.

With the advent of the Act in 1944, however, funds became available to farmers in outlying areas for this work and as a result of these loans 143,814 acres have been brought under cultivation since 1945.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

A Job Well Done

The successful presentation of the recent "Coleman Ice Review of 1949" merits the heartiest congratulations to Community Sports Association. With the invaluable aid of the Coleman Lions in the field of publicity, they put on a show equal to those staged by much larger centres. An undertaking of this nature calls for endeavors far beyond the usual "call of duty" and it is to the everlasting credit of these organizations that their efforts resulted in a "Hit Show". The experience gained this time will be utilized to the full when the time arrives to stage next year's "Review". In this respect, the friendly advice tendered by the Glenora Club officials regarding improvements to the "glacial stage" should be noted and concrete efforts made to improve the setting along lines suggested by the Calgary group. It might be a worthwhile idea to send an executive of the Sports Association to attend one of the many ice shows staged in the larger cities to observe the methods used in presenting the spectacle.

Art In a Mining Town

It was unfortunate that the sponsors of last week's Art Exhibit were not given sufficient time to publicize the worthwhile venture into the realms of one of the world's oldest forms of expression but the number of people who did take advantage of the Exhibition's presentation indicates quite clearly that Coleman does possess a large, and not inartistic, element devoted to love of the finer arts.

In this respect we are convinced that no other town of comparative size can match it in the extent of its response to the various attractions that separate common existence from the vibrant art of purposeful living. The organizations responsible for this may be small—but their constant devotion to the science of gracious living keeps the community abreast of an ever changing world and prevents it from sinking into the morass of mediocre materialism.

N.E.S. Seeks Jobs For Students

National Employment Service offices in the Prairie Region are again on the search for employment opportunities suitable to university students. In a statement released by Fred J. White, regional superintendent of the Unemployment Insurance Commission on Saturday, February 5th. Mr. White said that the annual campaign is making very good headway. Over 2300 employers in this region have been contacted by means of a circular letter from the Minister of Labour and follow-up work on these contacts is being made by the respective local offices. Mr. White said that the results so far were most encouraging as well over 25% of the employers had already listed their requirements. This is a very favorable response for such an early date as many employers are unable to state their requirements prior to the end of their fiscal year. The vacancies already on hand are being listed and soon will be made available to university students.

Last year temporary offices of the N.E.S. were opened at the three prairie universities. These so facilitated the handling of students requiring permanent and temporary work that the university authorities have now made more space available and the university offices are now permanent fixtures. These are the only three such offices in Canada.

Mr. White drew attention to the fact that the campaign this year is one of unusual significance in that the numbers in the graduating classes are the largest in the history of Canada and the largest they are likely to be for some time to come. In the engineering field alone there are nearly 3300 members in the graduating classes of which over 800 are in the three prairie universities. In the faculty of commerce which is second largest in numbers, there are 1550 in the graduating classes of which 330 are from the three prairie universities. In both of these faculties and in most other faculties, about 65% of the graduating classes are veterans.

Mr. White further noted that many employers realize that never before in this country has there been such a large number of young people with good academic background seeking their first employment as there are this year. They are accordingly taking advantage of the opportunity to obtain the service of potentially first class executive and technical personnel.

In addition to graduates, it is expected there will be approximately 4500 under-graduates of the three prairie universities registered for summer jobs.

A Message to

ALL M.L.A.'s

During the past few years, the money voted for the maintenance and construction of highways by the Provincial Government has been equal to, or slightly in excess of, the total revenue derived from motor vehicles.

THE RESULT: Improved highways, improved transportation, and economic, educational and social benefits to all.

Your constituents will approve your support of a similar vote for 1949, to extend these benefits to many not already adequately served.

Good roads will mean progress for Alberta.

Lundbreck-Cowley Opposition May Delay New Road

Engineer Bradley Promises
Action on Pincher-Lundbreck
Stretch

We learn that the prospects of a new road being built from Pincher to the Crow's Nest Pass are being delayed by the adamant attitude of the towns of Lundbreck and Cowley toward the route chosen by the Provincial Government engineers. Despite the assurance of the Government that connecting roads would be built to give the towns access to and from the main highway, considerable pressure is being exerted to change the plans to include the two towns.

In the meantime, N. P. Bradley has promised action along that stretch from Pincher to Lundbreck, and about the route of the stretch from Pincher to Waterton Lakes. It is hoped to have these stretches completed this year.

REPORT OF INSPECTOR OF SCHOOLS

Cameron school, housing 135 pupils in grades 1 to 6, is an excellent school building in very good repair. It is clean, airy, well-lighted; basements and halls are neat and clean. A very large grade 1 class (34 pupils) presented problems of organization which forced the splitting of grade 3.

In Central school, due to the happy chance of an unusually small grade 9, it has been possible to house both grades 8 and 9 in the high school part of the building. As grade 9 is the last small class, no further relief of this kind can be expected to relieve the overcrowded conditions in the junior grades. In the high school section of the building the classes enjoy many advantages of good lighting and good ventilation; but in the remainder of the building conditions are much less favorable. In several of the rooms lighting conditions are very bad. This is particularly true of the room occupied by Miss Sudworth's class where the immature eyes of these young children are, without doubt, being permanently damaged. I would recommend an immediate program of lighting improvement commencing with this room—painting the ceiling a flat white, the walls and woodwork either ivory or very light green; installation of fluorescent lighting; removal of the paint spotting and other dirt from the window-frames; substituting venetian blinds for the present darkgreen roller blinds (Two of these would not go all the way up when I visited the room—thus cutting off more of the already entirely inadequate glass area). Note: venetian blinds can be so adjusted as to let the light in without letting in sunlight which is very bad in all the rooms with a southern exposure.

There is a serious lack of co-ordination between the two schools. I have had occasion to note this in connection with the ordering and distribution of books and in connection with the planning of enterprise sequences. It may be that the only workable solution to the co-ordination problem lies in the suggestion of the last paragraph below.

The elementary teachers of Central school are making good use of the greatly improved reference library. Library facilities in Cameron school are still very meagre and are unorganized.

Your Board, like all other town and city boards, is faced with the problem of providing increased accommodation because of the very large classes now entering school. The average enrolment in your three junior grades is 63, in the three senior grades (7, 8, and 9) it is 42. In view of the urgency of this problem, I would recommend that your Board make a careful study of the suggestion of the High School Inspector regarding a Crow's Nest High School. The preliminary study given to this idea indicates that such a high school could give a much superior service to that now being given. It seems probable, too, that you would find on investigation that there would be a considerable financial advantage. Certainly a great deal of the taxpayers' money is now being wasted on duplications of teachers' time, classroom space, and equipment with very small grade 11 and 12 classes in each of the Pass towns.

It has been suggested that the first stage in the attack on such a building program should be a unification of the districts in the pass into some such organization as a School Division. A Division is a unit of districts which gives many advantages quite apart from the high school possibilities. Among such advantages we might note: higher government grants, a more effective system of securing teachers, and a chance to set up, at low cost to the local taxpayers, classes for handicapped children. I believe it is worth your very careful study.

Date, January 31st, 1949.
James A. McKay,
(Inspector of Schools)

Fire Bosses Unite In One Organization

Drumheller Miner Elected
Head of New Union

A two-day meeting of all five bosses employed in the Alberta coal fields ended in the formation of one union, known as the National Union of Fire Bosses, C.C.L., which will include both domestic and bituminous mine fire bosses.

The new organization ends the split in union organization among the fire bosses who had formerly belonged to the Western Canada Fire Bosses' Association, T.L.C., in the bituminous coal mining areas and to the National Union of Fire Bosses, C.C.L., in the domestic coal mining area.

William Holowaituk, of Drumheller, was elected president with Jack McIsaac, of Blairmore, secretary. The executive council will be comprised of Stan Baker, and Bill Steene, representing mines in the Edmonton area; Jack Sweeney, representing B. C. mines; William Yawazwick, representing the Lethbridge area; Bert Henry and Joseph Petit, representing mines in Drumheller area and John James and Tom Williams, representing the Nordegg area.

The fire bosses, who are employed in supervisory capacities as safely examiners in the coal mines, also decided to seek a welfare fund similar to that of District 18, United Mine Workers of America, C.C.L.

MARVELUBE HELPS YOU KEEP DOWN TILLAGE COSTS

Here's why...

The old lubricating oil in your tractor engine contains dirt which increases engine drag, promotes wear, and may result in clogged oil filters, thus causing injury to cylinders and bearings.

Refilling with the correct grade of Marvelube for your tractor is good business because—

- 1 Free flowing Marvelube effectively lubricates moving parts for all farm operations.
- 2 Marvelube resists heat—does not break down under continuous operation, but protects against wear under day-in, day-out work.
- 3 Marvelube offers further protection by resisting the formation of carbon and reducing sludge in the crankcase.

Translated into cash benefits for you, the above simply means that frequent servicing with Marvelube lubricants gives your tractor the extra power and smoothness which speeds up all tractor-powered operations on your farm.

Marvelube helps cut down operating costs, aids in avoiding unnecessary replacement of parts, and keeps your tractor on the job longer.

Fred Beddington Weds In Ottawa

Former Colemanite Takes Eastern Bride in Rockcliffe Airport Ceremony. Couple Will Reside in Ottawa.

A wedding of interest to many Pass citizens took place in the Rockcliffe Airport Chapel, Ottawa, on February 9, at 3 p.m. United in marriage were Helen Lois Flynn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Flynn, of Thurso, Quebec, and Frederick George Beddington, of Waterton Lake, National Park.

The ceremony was performed by R.C.A.P. Chaplain Gilbert. Given in marriage by LAC D. Howard, the bride was attended by Mrs. F. Hodson as matron of honor, and Miss Corelean Scott as bridesmaid. LAC F. Hodson was best man and usher was LAC E. J. Major. The bride wore a Navy Blue crepe dress with a Peter Pan collar, and flared skirt. Her hat was of pink candy straw, trimmed with pink roses and a Navy blue veil. She wore pink gloves, navy blue accessories and carried a bouquet of pink roses.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. Hodson, of Ottawa. A beautiful candlelit table was centred by a three tier wedding cake, topped by a miniature bride and groom. After the reception the happy couple left to spend their honeymoon at Montreal. For travelling the bride wore a grey gabardine suit with black accessories. On their return they will reside in Ottawa, where the groom is stationed as a member of the R.C.A.P.

Lions Hear Address By Sgt Murray

R.C.M.P. Officer Presents Interesting Talk on Youth Work of Famed Force

The regular supper meeting of the Coleman Lions was held in the Grand Union Dining Room on Monday evening when Sergeant Murray, of the R.C.M.P. detachment, Blairmore, was the guest speaker.

In the course of a thought provoking address, Sgt. Murray outlined the practical methods adopted by the force in their efforts to counteract the "police complex" installed in children, usually by the faulty disciplinary measures of parents seeking to preserve their authority. He stressed the badly worn and overworked injunction of parents to disobedient children: "If you don't behave yourself, the policeman will come and take you away".

It is a simple statement for the parents to make, but its repercussions affected the child's entire life. It marked the child for life with an anti-police complex and was the reason for the R.C.M.P.'s determined educational efforts to erase the complex by the practical application of a policy to inform and instruct the youth of Canada that the "Bogey Man" was in reality, their friend and protector.

At the completion of Sgt. Murray's address, members discussed the burning issue of racialism and the animated manner in which the discussion was carried on indicates the tremendous amount of thought being given to this all important question, particularly in a country as cosmopolitan as Canada.

Joe Emmerson Receives Bill 125 Years Old!

Early 19th Century Business Displayed Appropriate Concern For Creditor by Enclosing Bill in Black-Edged Envelope!

Joe Emmerson received a letter "edged in black" early this week, but before you rush over to offer Joe condolences, we had better explain that the contents of the traditional "Death Notice" contained a bill made out nearly 125 years ago! The valuable parchment, and its archaic container were sent to Mr. Emmerson by his son, Bob, now residing in Kingston, Ontario. It was given to Bob as a souvenir by a grandson of the man to whom the awe-inspiring missive was sent to in 1824.

Although a certain amount of "Scotch Tape" is necessary to keep both bill and envelope intact, every word and figure is as plainly discernible as, on the day a certain Hugh Calder, of Toronto, sat down and penned the statement with all the neatness and distinction that characterized transactions in the early nineteenth century.

Another instance of its hoariness is the fact that the Canada of that day operated on the pound-shillings and pence system.

Coleman's feminine shoppers might be interested in knowing that you could purchase a "Leg-horn Hat" for 8 shillings and 9 pence—approximately, two dollars, while five yards of Chick-ingham would have cost them 6 shillings and three pence—roughly a dollar and a half. One can only speculate on the reactions of the mere male to this expenditure by Miladi—but it does proffer a clue to the reason for the "letter edged in black".

Quality and Diversity of Service Make Chalmers' Jewelry Store A Popular Shopping Centre.

The quality and diversity of service being provided by Chalmers' Jewelry Store, the only store of its kind in Coleman, is meeting with increased approval of the community's shoppers, seeking for high class products. Space is insufficient to enumerate the scores of world famous trade-names found on the display counters and shelves of this beautifully arranged jewelry centre.

The genial owner and proprietor, Jack Chalmers, is on hand at all times to assist customers in selecting the appropriate item from the large stocks carried in all lines. Despite the increased business in the front end of the store, those wishing repairs to watches and clocks will find that Jack still maintains a first-class repair department in conjunction with the shop.

Rapidly growing into one of the store's most popular departments is the Record Dept. where music lovers will find all their favorite recordings. Miss Madge Tiffin is in charge of the department. Here, you will find a wide assortment of records to meet every musical taste. Record seekers will find their needs catered to with charm and courteous service. In this connection, the store keeps it's recordings as up-to-date as possible, and when you decide to buy the current "juke box" favorites you will find them in Chalmers' record library.

TOXOID STILL RATED TOP DIPHThERIA PREVENTIVE

Recent outbreaks of diphtheria in southern Alberta which necessitated the closing of schools and the banning of public meetings in some districts serve as a reminder that toxoid is still the perfect diphtheria preventive. It is stated by the Health League of Canada. There would have been no outbreaks had those affected been properly immunized through toxoid injections.

It seems a pity, the Health League says, that in this supposedly enlightened day and age that diphtheria should still be taking toll in death and sickness when medical science has provided harmless toxoid, a most efficient immunizing agent. It is true that the Alberta outbreaks were isolated instances, but it is hoped, the Health League says, that they will provide food for thought among the thousands of Canadian parents who have neglected to have their children immunized against preventable diseases such as smallpox, diphtheria and whooping cough.

The picture does have some bright sides, however, and just recently the Toronto Medical Officer of Health, Dr. Gordon Park Jackson, revealed that Toronto was diphtheria-free in 1948 — repeating the record-breaking year of 1940 when that city for the first time in its history reported no cases of the disease. Toronto is the only city of its size in the world ever to go through one calendar year without a case of diphtheria.

"It is to be hoped that the attainment of such a record will not induce the citizens of Toronto to become apathetic and indifferent where diphtheria is concerned," the Health League says. "They should continue to remember that toxoid prevents diphtheria."

WILL URGE SUSPENSION LEVY ON MOTORISTS

Action on the provincial government's special levy of $1.00 on motorists for purposes of the Automobile Accident Indemnity Act is planned by officials of the Alberta Motor Association.

This fund is now estimated to amount to $200,000 with claims against it being negligible since it was started in 1947. It was established to provide compensation to persons injured in motor car accidents.

A.M.A. officials contend that motorists are entitled to relief from this continued impost. It is pointed out that Manitoba last year suspended collection of the fee while in Ontario the amount this year has been put at 50 cents additional for each license.

The A.M.A. is preparing to make strong representations to the provincial government on the matter. These will be made prior to final government action on the budget for the next fiscal year which opens Feb. 1.

With motorists now required to pay a high annual license fee, in addition to a nine cents a gallon gasoline tax, it is contended that some measure of relief from the extra levy for the Accident Fund should be forthcoming this year.

SCHOOLBOY KILLED AND FOUR PUPILS INJURED—Young traffic victim was taking the "safe way home" from school when he was struck and thrown nearly eight feet. Four other children were injured. Accident occurred on No. 7 highway at intersection of Bloomingdale-Preston county road. Broken line shows path of transport to where children were hit. KASHMIR—VOTES INSTEAD OF GUNS WITH HELP OF U.N.—New Year's Eve, 1948, was an important date in Vale of Kashmir. At that moment 14 months of hostilities were ended when a cease-fire order was issued simultaneously by the sister states of India and Pakistan. Now the road is open to a peaceful solution by means of a plebiscite to be held under the auspices of the United Nations. The agreement was the climax to persistent U.N. efforts to bring about peace between the two states and to keep 400,000,000 people out of a war. Co-operation of all parties involved in the conflict facilitates operations of the U.N. commission in the trouble area. BIT OFF MORE THAN HE COULD CHEW—This was the result when a two-pound bass tried to bite off more than he could chew while swimming around Black Rock Lake in Atlanta, Georgia. The two bass were found recently by Newton Thomas, who holds his catch.

HERCULEAN WALK SAVED PILOT—Jack Fair, chief engineer for Sudbury Airways, who piloted the rescue plane that found Bob Milligan in the wreckage of his aircraft beside the bodies of his two Indian trapper passengers, said it was miraculous that anyone survived. Milligan's plane crashed on the thick ice of Peter Long lake, 26 miles north of Gogama, Ont., as he was making a landing to drop Richard and Sidney Neveau, brothers, at their winter traplines. The Indians were instantly killed and Milligan, with both feet broken, lay unconscious in the wreckage for four hours beside their bodies in 18 below zero weather.

DRIVER ESCAPES DEATH—Driver of an ice truck which broke through the ice of the St. Lawrence river, five miles east of Cornwall, Ont., Fernand Regnier scrambled to safety as it sank into six feet of water. Here, police and helpers attempt to salvage truck. Regnier was clearing snow in preparation for ice-cutting when the eight-inch crust, weakened by sun, gave way.—S.N.S. photo.

POLICEMAN TURNS INTO SONGWRITER—The only member of Montreal police force who has had a song published, Det-Sergt. James R. Croghan is seen with his wife and two of their three children, Texas Beverly, six, and Shannon Lynn, four, as they took over the tuneless score of the song, "You Stood There". On his night patrols Croghan started whistling and humming and thus received the inspiration for his tune.—S.N.S. photo.

BE KIND TO DUMB ANIMALS—Penny the Boxer looks rather sorrowful as his seven-year-old mistress, Wendy Moffett, spoons him some food in the Moffett home at Mountaineer, N.J., where both are recuperating from a ducking in a lake near their neighborhood. The sorrow probably stems from the fact Penny has to wear. Walking with Wendy and the latter's friend, Patricia Durand, the dog fell into the lake. The girls chased it and in trying to save it, fell in, too. Wendy got out, rescued the dog and then called for help. Patricia, rescued, is now in hospital recovering from exposure.—S.N.S. photo.

Owner of the car, Joseph Kulonowski, Detroit, was badly hurt. The girl was pinned in wreckage for half an hour before rescuers could remove her. She died in hospital at Chatham, Ont.

The new Mrs. Edwards, weighing 252 pounds, filled the bill and romantically speaking, bowled Mr. Edwards over. The latter was a widower whose former wife weighed 210 pounds.—S.N.S. photo.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

BUT VERY HUMAN, INDEED!

By PHIL GLANZER

EVELYN was alarmed when Sailor McCoskey and Ike Dugan started arguing loudly at our table at the Drum Club. The minute Sailor jumped over his chair and stood threateningly over Ike, she turned to me and said, "This is terrible! We've got to stop them!"

"Let them alone," I said. Evelyn looked astonished. "Tot!" she exclaimed, "I'll bet you'll actually be glad if they fight!" I figured a little more shock wouldn't hurt her. "Of course I'll be glad. Wouldn't you be glad if you were in my place? And I'll be proud, too." That was the truth, because they were arguing over me. This would be the first time that two men would fight over me, and probably the last.

I can still see the look that Evelyn gave me. "I knew you were hard, but I never knew you were that hard. Suppose they hurt each other?" "They can't hurt each other," I assured her. "Neither of them knows a thing about fighting!"

Ike had risen from his chair too, and I heard him say: "Nobody can try to take Tot away from me and get away with it!"

"Yeah," retorted Sailor. "We'll see about that."

That was what the whole argument was about, whether Ike had a right to horn in if I was willing to listen. Now of course that was something for me to decide for myself, but I wasn't in any hurry. After all, it was my future that was concerned—something that demanded considerable thought. Besides, I was peevish at Ike and Sailor. The four of us had come out for a pleasant evening, and I had asked both of them not to discuss the matter. They had promised, but after a while their jealousy flared up.

Their faces were about six inches apart now, and they were talking louder and louder. People around us were beginning to stare.

"Tot!" whispered Evelyn. "You've got to do something. You can't let them fight. You can't just sit there being glad that you're the cause of it. It isn't decent!"

"Perhaps it isn't," I agreed, "but it's human. And besides, it will bring me some lovely publicity."

Evelyn almost choked, as she edged in between the two men. "Of all the cold-blooded, calculating—" "Maybe you'd feel the same way if you were in my place," I broke in. "Keep in the public eye, and the public pays its money to come and see you. Don't forget, I've just signed for a six-weeks' vaudeville tour." That was true, but not my real reason. I just liked the idea of watching Sailor and Ike having a good fight. I know you'll think I'm terrible to admit it, but I'm trying to tell you exactly how I felt.

Suddenly Evelyn let out a scream, and I turned just in time to see Sailor take the first swing. It was wild. Ike swung back at Sailor, and he landed. But he didn't hit Sailor hard. Then, suddenly, Ike went down.

"Oh!" Evelyn yelled, "this is terrible!" "Don't be a fool," I told her. "Sailor or didn't even touch him. Ike tripped over a chair."

I was right. Ike jumped up quickly, and this time he had better luck. He got Sailor right in the nose. Sailor staggered, grabbed the table cloth—and the cloth, glasses and silver crashed to the floor. It was wonderful!

"Somebody stop them!" Evelyn kept shrieking. I put my hand over her mouth, and held it there. This was easy, because I am quite a bit stronger than she is. Evelyn is very frail, just the opposite of me. When I was a youngster, I could handle most of the boys of my age in the neighborhood. I had quite a reputation.

Sailor just had time to catch Ike one in the stomach—drawing a loud grunt—before the waiters closed in. "These guys will have to get out of here," one of the waiters told us. "Are you two going?"

"No," I said, "we'll stay. I don't want to see any more of them—not right now anyhow."

"But, Tot," Evelyn whispered, "the check!"

"I'll pay it," I told her. "It was worth it. And it seems to me I'm not the only one who's cold-blooded and calculating." I added for her benefit.

"Perhaps It Wasn't Decent, But It Would Bring Some Lovely Publicity."

A voice said: "Mind if I sit down?"

I looked up and saw Eddie Thorndike. "Not at all," I told him. "This is Miss Hughes. Evelyn, meet Eddie Thorndike—a newspaper reporter."

"I saw that little set-to," Eddie said. "You wouldn't care to tell me what it was all about?"

"I don't mind," I said. "It was about me."

Eddie looked curious. "You didn't seem to object."

"Eddie," I said, "I never enjoyed anything so much in my life."

"Did you ever hear anything so cruel?" piped Evelyn. Eddie ignored her. "I figured you must have enjoyed it," he said. "You could have taken the two of them and knocked their heads together if you'd wanted to."

"Sure," I admitted, "and spoil a heap of fun for myself. Put yourself in my shoes. Five-six years now I've been in the ring, taking all kinds of punishment, all the time listening to advice from a couple of tin-horn managers who never took a cross to the jaw in their lives. If they want to swing a few punches to decide whether Ike gets the gate and I let Sailor manage me in the future, that's their business. A fighter doesn't often get a chance to see two managers fighting each other. And fighting for nothing. Not even a thin dime in the gate."

I reached for the check and looked at it. "Cheap at double the price."

The new wheat yields more than the Thatcher variety, but on the average is a day later in maturing than the Marquis variety.

"In addition," said the statement, "three other highly promising varieties which have been tested extensively in western Canada during the last two years are being recommended by the plant breeders for the commercial milling and baking tests."
